Group 3 - Caleb, Justine, Brooke, Katy, Adam, Hunter

1. INT - Lab

Two Researchers enter the scene coughing or otherwise showing visible signs of illness. They SIT DOWN at the table in the room and look at each other before sighing. Both researchers' coats are stained.

Around the room are several spilled canisters and a slight hissing noise that is coming from the spilled liquid.

Researcher One:
Well... What now?

Researcher Two drags over to another shelf and grabs their notebook, before sitting back down.

Researcher Two:
...Unless you have a better idea...?

Researcher One:
No... we've got nothing better...
It's not like we can leave now, anyway.

In their final hours, one of them decides to take their notebook and start listing their symptoms. The coughing, the itching, the inability to sit still, etc. They also record the time in which the symptoms first started appearing.

The scene progresses as the two of them get worse. We jump between inserts of the list as it gradually gets longer, and only an hour or so has passed.

Researcher Two:
Hey... what were you going
To do this weekend?

Researcher One:
I dunno...
Nothin' anymore.

Researcher Two:
Yeah...

The two of them sit there for a moment, as though they were trying to think of something to do before Researcher One cuts the silence with a very nasty cough.

After 12 hours, one of the researchers dies, leaving the other one to catalogue any post-mortem attributes. Researcher Two

Eventually, as they are writing down another symptom, the other researcher falls over and dies.
